"Faces Forward"

Monotypes prints
by Charles St. Charles

Opening Reception: Friday, October 10, 6 - 8:30 pm

Faces Forward is Touchstone's third iteration of Charles St. Charles' extraordinary faces. Particularly striking here is his series of mask-like wise men on black paper, stunningly floated against white. They sure touch that Wow! Factor.

Then, some of the larger clusters of faces bring a different delight, playfully revealing that they are faces at all only after a moment of pretending to be simply well constructed abstracts. The faces in this show may reveal a bit more humor and irony than they did in their prior appearances, but they are still knowingly engaged in a moment – and their more frequent smiles may make them even more haunting than before.
